We are working with government, peak bodies and the Metro South Hospital and Health Service to deliver timely and accurate information, and are committed to working with you to ensure our primary health care workers are informed, supported and equipped to deliver safe, high-quality health care to our communities in regard to COVID-19.

As part of our role, we aim to provide you with:

- latest news updates (previous versions can be found here)
- timely government and clinical information for general practice
- resources to enable safe health care delivery e.g. masks, updated guidelines.

Clinical updates

- People that have travelled from mainland China, Iran or Republic of Korea are required to self-quarantine for 14 days.
- People that have travelled from Italy or South Korea must practice social distancing (maintain a distance of 1.5 metres between you and other people when out and about in public) and avoid crowds.

It is recommended that clinicians should consider testing people with clinically compatible illness that have been:

- in close contact with a suspected case of COVID-19, or
- have any history of international travel in the 14 days before the onset of symptoms.

Countries considered to pose a higher risk of transmission can be found here.

Immediately contact Metro South Public Health Unit 07 3156 4000 if you encounter a suspected case and for further guidance regarding next steps and specimen collection. For a list of approved centres for collection of specimens for COVID-19 virus testing please refer to (Mater, QML or SNP).

People who undergo testing should be managed as suspect cases and isolated until the results of testing are known. A cautious approach to infection control is recommended, including standard, contact and airborne precautions, and asking people suspected of having the infection to wear a surgical mask.

A number of people in the community have been issued quarantine orders and are self-isolating in their homes for the mandatory 14-day period, with support from Red Cross and Queensland Health. Queensland Health nurses are conducting home visits to review these people and provide them clearance.
